This year's meeting theme is "Will to Succeed," reflecting examples of innovation and success during times of adversity. "Will to Succeed" will also apply to CSPA's accomplishments with and for its members in these challenging days. The Meeting is a prime opportunity for you to become involved in the workings of your Association, an occasion to increase your company's bottom line by meeting customers and potential customers all under one roof, and an educational event to further your own professional development. It will also bring you up-to-date information on the latest regulatory and legislative issues pertinent to the consumer specialties industry. The Meeting, the consumer specialty product industry's premier arena for business-to-business opportunities, will feature its popular InnoventionSM Day program and activities, product development news and networking venues.
